THE ART OF LOVE

OVID WAS HER MASTER

He Guided Her From The First Flirtation to the Ultimate Conquest

From him she learned the ancient mysteries of love, its unsuspected pleasures. Under his tutelage her dormant womanhood awakened and she became irresistible. Men broke down the doors in surrender to her will.

Ovid's ART OF LOVE is now available to those who are not afraid to try the unusual. Banned when first published and still hard to get in an untampered version, the book tells all in clear unashamed language. Everything is detailed from the first approach to the final conquest. It's as old as the oldest love ritual, newer than the newest sex book. Completely illustrated and beautifully bound for permanent possession.

STRANGE FATE OF PROUD BEAUTY

A young man saw a young and beautiful woman run stark naked towards him pursued by two huge dogs and a hunter who cried out, "Keep away! She's got it coming." As he spoke the woman was brought to a stop.

The hunter then told an incredible tale of frustrated passion and punishment. The young man drew back, his hair on end, and became a spectator to one of the most sadistic scenes ever described. This amazing story (only one of a 100) is told in full detail in Boccaccio's Decameron. This 540 page illustrated and unexpurgated Decameron is the book of which the critic Hutton has said, "Its effect upon us is the effect of life which includes for its own good, things moral and immoral."

ROYAL JELLY, the Queen Bee's Special Food...ITS SECRET OF PROLONGED LIFE!

Leading National Magazines, Newspapers, Syndicated Columnists, Medical Journals, and Reports from Medical Congress indicate the benefits of ROYAL JELLY, a "living" high energy food.

Doctors Report "Miracle" Royal Jelly May Change Your Whole Life!

How would you like to awaken one morning and find yourself possessed with a marvelous sense of "well-being," full of New Pep and Vitality? Wouldn't it be wonderful if you could feel increased vigor and enjoy a "new lease on life"? Now...Scientists say this may happen to you!

Royal Jelly May Mean "New Life" After 40

Reports from Europe tell of an 80 year old Gentleman whose physical condition would make a 50 year old envious. The man regularly partakes of Royal Jelly. According to a book published in England, when Russian Officials sent questionnaires to all the Centenarians (people over 100 years old) in the Soviet Union, more than half of them turned out to be beekeepers.

From France and Germany come amazing Scientific Reports of outstanding results obtained with Royal Jelly. One French authority writes of women over 40 feeling increased sexual vitality and of a wonderful feeling of "youth and well-being" that resulted from continued use of Royal Jelly.

KARLSRUHE MEDICAL CONGRESS REPORTS

"...From the very first few days Royal Jelly, gave to those who were taking it, a feeling of well being and euphoria, a renewed vigor, and at the end of a few weeks the whole organism seemed reinforced, one notes a growing strength and energy in his whole body, as much in his exterior appearance, as in the agility of his movements."

ROYAL JELLY Wins Approval Before Congress of 5,000 Doctors

The men of Medical Science who have experimented with Royal Jelly, claim that Royal Jelly will perform the function of INCREASING MEN & WOMEN'S WANING POWERS. Every man and woman who feels "old" and "played out" before their time should seriously consider the use of "Jenasol R. J. Formula 60" to increase their pep and energy.

Now You May Benefit from ROYAL JELLY the "ELIXIR OF YOUTH" of the Queen Bee

Two years ago, the world-famous French Nutrition Expert, Bernard De-souches wrote a book praising Royal Jelly as a Life Prolonger and Extraordinary Stimulator of Sexual Vitality of the Queen Bee.

Royal Jelly Reported to Help Those Suffering From:

Mental Depression... Loss of Appetite... Sexual Weakness... Digestive Disturbances... Headaches... Decreased Vigor... Nervousness... Aches and Pains... Irritability.

We make no claims for ROYAL JELLY. We have merely accumulated reports that have been made as a result of experimentation and research by Doctors, Scientists, and Nutritionists in many parts of the world.

CAN VITALITY AND SEX DRIVE BE INCREASED WITH ROYAL JELLY?

Let this "Miracle of Nature" which Medical Doctors have acclaimed begin working for you today! Start feeling good again!

Here Are Some of the Symptoms of Approaching Old Age which Make Men and Women over 40 feel devitalized and "played out" before their time:

- Listless, "don't care attitude"
- Lacks recuperating power
- Falls to get rest from sleep
- Sexual Weakness
- Unable to make decisions.

Observations by Doctors of the Medical Congress Who Took Royal Jelly and Observed its Use Directly

• Royal Jelly gives new energy to those in a weakened state, and greater vigor, more physical strength and spiritual strength to the healthy.

• Royal Jelly alleviates suffering to men and women in their critical years in a sensational manner.

• Royal Jelly acts on weakened, tired eyes, giving instantly a sensation of new light.

• Feeling of tiredness disappears immediately.

• Royal Jelly gives a feeling of increased sexual drive and energy, especially to men and women over 40.

• Royal Jelly permits prolonged intellectual work without tiring.

• Royal Jelly produces a pleasing state of relaxed well-being and eases tension.

Life May Begin Again After 40 as Queen Bee's Natural Food Rebuilds Man's Vitality and Drive

Royal Jelly is totally unlike honey, and has baffled scientists since the 1700's. In 1894, some of the mystery was dispelled when Leonard Bordas, a French scientist, discovered that Royal Jelly is secreted by special glands located in the heads of worker bees whose job is to nurse the Queen.

It is not surprising that Royal Jelly has attracted Medical Attention throughout the world... Here is the substance, the sole diet of the Queen Bee in which lies the secret of the difference between her and the rest of the hive. For the Queen lives to 6 years, whereas the 20 to 40 thousand worker bees and the few hundred drones live but a few short months. The Queen Bee larva looks like all the rest, including those of the female worker bees. But only SHE is fertile, producing some 400,000 eggs annually.

Her food is ROYAL JELLY, secreted from the glands of the worker bees. The ingredients are nectar and pollen from the flowers, plus honey, combined in a mysterious way by Nature to make up the "miracle food" ROYAL JELLY...

RUSSIAN EDUCATION

RUSSIAN EDUCATION

Can Russia with its forced education, its disregard for human wear and tear, remain ahead of the U. S.?

Upon entering school, Russian children begin learning the fundamentals of science.

After they take a few courses, their teachers determine whether or not they have an aptitude and the intelligence to pursue a course of scientific study. If they are, they are encouraged and subsidized.

The government takes care of all their expenses, and when they graduate they are placed in key trainee spots.

When they begin to work, there is no such thing as liberal vacations and sick leaves. When they work on an important project, there is no such thing as a day off. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays are just like any other working day.

They are told that they are good and that Russia will soon rule the world because of their useful efforts.

VS. U.S. EDUCATION

AMERICAN EDUCATION

Will increases in the budget solve our problem? Or will we find that a change in attitude will do even more.

When American students enter school, there is a great stress on getting along with the other children.

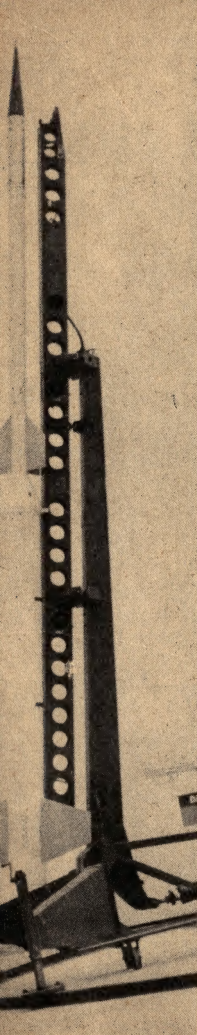

They learn nothing about science until they reach the sixth grade, and even then almost nothing.

When they enter high school they take General Science, a course encompassing everything and nothing.

Upon graduation from high school, there are many students who have never been given the opportunity to prove their abilities in scientific fields.

Also, many students who show an aptitude for science are not encouraged to pursue a scientific course. In addition many of the students who would like to study science cannot continue their studies due to financial or other reasons.

If we continue this system, we will lose many potential scientists. And that's something we can scarcely afford at this time.

● EDUCATION

It's time to take stock of our education—or at least, we hope there's still time.

It's brutally evident that there's something wrong. Until now, education officials have argued about progressive and standard educational methods. But apparently their both inadequate.

As long as we can remember, our country led in every field of endeavor, be it industry, sports or science, and we pointed proudly to our education system and touted it as being best in the world.

But now the picture has changed drastically and completely. While our scientists are fumbling with the ill-fated Vanguard missiles, Russia's Sputniks go hurling merrily through space and vividly show where we stand.

To be blunt, both our methods are outdated and thoroughly inadequate. While our high school and college students—the future leaders of our country—spend their time worrying about who they're going to date Saturday night and how the Yankees are going to fare against the White Sox, the youths of Russia are learning the fundamentals of missiles and atoms—the elements which may eventually destroy us.

We have to be realistic about this situation. We can't sit back and cry about the supremacy we have lost, and we mustn't take a defeatist attitude.

What is done, is done. The Reds are ahead of us in space travel. Until now, they have made us look like amateurs in the space race.

For the first time in our history, we find ourselves in a new and disillusioning position. Always before, our allies looked to us to lead the way, and always before we have.

However, the entire free world was shocked when the Reds launched Sputnik. They were making the news—and still are—while we are still fumbling.

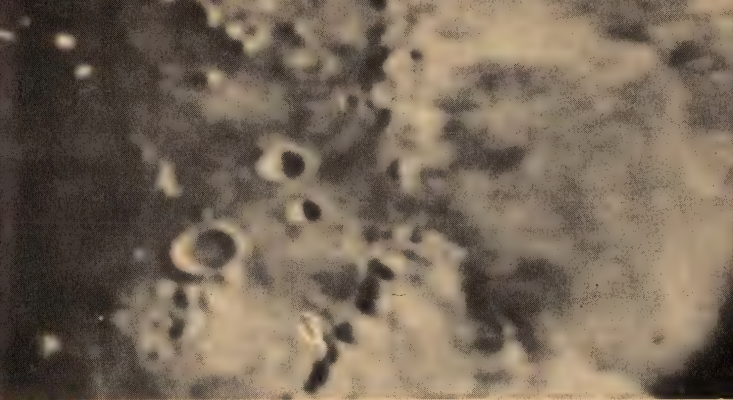

What can be done about this situation?

The first step would be to begin at the lowest level in our school system. In order to build missiles, we need scientists, and in order to develop good scientists, we have to completely change our educational system.

Grade school children should be given aptitude tests, and those who display interest and ability in scientific study should be helped and encouraged along those lines.

Science clubs and organizations should be formed,

Reds show results and we don't.

and those students who join, should be given every opportunity to experiment and question different methods and theories.

In high schools, there should be special classes formed in which talented and interested students should be taught the fundamentals of atoms and missiles.

And when a student reaches the college level and shows definite talent and inclination in science he should be helped and encouraged. More science scholarships should be set up as an added inducement.

Instead of subsidizing football and basketball players, loyal alumni should form science scholarships. There won't be any football or basketball teams if we don't catch up in the missile race.

In Russia, the students who show an aptitude for science are encouraged and subsidized. When they graduate, they are given jobs and the government takes care of all their worries.

An explosion; flames; and another ship goes to the bottom. Pictures by 20th-Century-Fox

Although many Hollywood pictures are full of realism, most people think that this realism is created by the ingenious producers and directors and making a picture is as easy and safe as eating a turkey dinner in your home.

However, these people are dead wrong. It would be ridiculous to say that movie making is a hazardous occupation, but often when pictures are filmed, there is a certain amount of danger connected with them.

Of course, there are stunt men who take most of the risks when it comes to performing a dangerous act, but there are many instances in which stars have been hurt while filming a picture.

In "The Enemy Below," the recent 20th Century-Fox release, about the cat and mouse battle between an American destroyer and a Nazi sub, actor Al Hadison, who played one of the major roles, had to complete the picture in excruciating pain.

Hadison struck his knee against an overlook when he jumped from a sinking destroyer into a lifeboat.

X-Rays were taken at the studio hospital. Although there was no fracture, the pain and swelling were so intense that Hadison could not get out of bed. Since Hadison was needed in order for the show to go on without any costly delay, Director Dick Powell, sent an assistant director and a doctor to see what could be done.

Hadison was given a heavy injection of novocaine which numbed the pain and enabled him to play the scene.

Realistic and gripping, "The Enemy Below" is the most exciting submarine pictures to come along in many years. Unique in the sense that it gives both sides of the story, the picture moves quickly towards its conclusion and never lags.

There isn't a girl in the picture. It's a man's picture, and all the men in it give it realism and a fast moving pace.

With Robert Mitchum, as the agile captain of the Destroyer and Curt Jurgens, as the wise old submarine skipper, pitting their minds and experience against each other, the audience is constantly kept in suspense, and the outcome is an exciting climax to an exciting story.

Another unique point in this picture is the personal touch. Unlike other movies of this type, each skipper wonders about his opponent's personality.

If you like action, excitement and suspense, then don't miss "The Enemy Below."

DOCTORS WHO QUIT SMOKING

One out of three doctors have given up or curtailed cigarette smoking during the past five years, and have advised their patients to do the same, according to a study of physicians' smoking habits conducted by Medical Times, a leading medical journal.

A recent issue gave reports on the first statistically reliable study of how doctors have reacted to the continuing controversy over the relation of smoking to health. A random sample of practicing physicians and residents—the sample totaled 4,622—were questioned on their smoking habits.

The possible causal connection between smoking and cancer was a factor in the decision of three out of four doctors who gave up smoking. On the other hand, many doctors who continued to smoke said that they did so because of their feeling that "the damage is already done."

The study indicates that 17% of practicing physicians and 20% of residents who smoked five or more cigarettes a day in 1942 have given up smoking since that time, while 14% have curtailed their cigarette consumption and 3% have switched from cigarettes to cigars or pipe smoking.

Over half of the doctors surveyed (56%) had not changed their smoking habits, and another 10% had actually increased their per-day consumption of cigarettes. Of these, however, a number noted that they had continued smoking because of "no will power" or "fatalism." An analysis of these comments leads to the conclusion: "While many physicians have stopped smoking, many more state they wish they could."

Asked whether they were sufficiently convinced of the relationship between smoking and cancer to advise their patients to stop smoking 31.9% of the general practitioners and 38.1% of the resident physicians replied affirmatively, and almost without exception (98%) reported that they take the initiative in so advising their patients. Even some of those (14%) who are not convinced of the cigarette-cancer link currently urge patients to limit smoking for other reasons.

BASEBALL INJURIES

Unlike other professional men, a ballplayer reaches the end of his career somewhere between the ages of 35 to 40—and some even sooner. He has only a few years to capitalize on his abilities. An injury can cost him his career and livelihood. Although only one ball player died while playing baseball, the risks are still there.

WILLIE MAYS WAS BEANED DURING A WARM-UP SESSION.

A wrong turn: A bad slide and crack!

Almost every February, baseball scribes sit down and make their predictions about the forthcoming campaign.

When making these predictions, the writers take many factors into consideration. They note the changes in personnel, the ages of the key players and the ability of the manager.

However, they can't foresee how many stars will be sidelined with pulled muscles, sprained ligaments and broken bones.

One wrong turn or bad slide can—in a matter of moments—change the whole complexion of a pennant race. And during the course of a season there are bound to be at least a dozen key men out of the lineup for anywhere from a week to an entire season due to injury.

Besides the pain a ball-player has to endure when he gets hurt, there are many other worries accompanying an injury. Many stars have never recovered—and one—Ray Chapman—lost his life when he was beamed by a

Carl Mays fastball in 1925.

In recent years such popular stars as the Yankees, Tom Henrich, who bruised his knees while chasing a foul fly; Monte Irvin, who cracked his ankle in a meaningless exhibition game; Jeff Heath; who also broke his leg in a close play at home, had their careers curtailed due to injuries.

Just last year, Herb Score, the brilliant lefthander ace of the Cleveland Indians, was hit by a line drive off the bat of the Yankees' Gil McDougald, and was out for the season. The total extent of the injury still hasn't been determined because he hasn't seen any action since the injury.

A pennant race may be over.

George Kell, now with Baltimore, is another who has had his share of injuries. A few years back a wicked smash off the bat of Joe DiMaggio bounced off Kell's jaw and knocked him out of action for an entire season.

Freak accidents are also not uncommon in baseball. Just last season, the Yankees' Larry Berra was sidelined when a pitch cracked a wire on his mask and broke his nose.

Almost every year, there are at least two or three occasions when fielders get their signals mixed and run into each other. More than few broken bones have resulted from these mishaps.

ABOVE: ADCOCK BROKE HIS LEG IN SLIDE. RITE: DON ZIMMER LOST A WHOLE SEASON BECAUSE OF THIS BEANING.

A large number of injuries also result from players crashing into fences. Although, not many ballplayers suffer the fate of Pete Reiser, a brilliant ballplayer whose career was ruined because he couldn't curb his penchant for crashing into fences, many have spent valuable time on the bench due to their inability to stop a crash into a fence.

In 1957, the Yankees should have run-away with the flag. However, due to injuries to such key players as Ed Ford, Bobby Schanz, Bill Skowron and Mickey Mantle, the Yankees had to battle the White Sox almost down to the wire before they won out.

The Braves also lost the services of righthanded slugger, Joe Adcock and had a tougher time of it.

Some never recuperate from injuries.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who were in the thick of things until late in August, lost Stan Musial for several weeks and could never replace him or recuperate from his loss. They went into a long losing streak and lost all chances of winning the flag.

All-Star games also have had their share of injuries. Perhaps the two most notable ones are the Dizzy Dean and Ted Williams incidents. During an All-Star game in the mid-thirties, Dean, who was then the best pitcher in baseball, sustained a broken toe when it was hit by a line drive by Earl Averill. Instead of waiting for his toe to heal, he altered his motion, pitched and ruined his arm.

Williams lost almost a full season when he crashed into a fence and broke his elbow while he was chasing a fly ball.

Injuries can not be foreseen. That's why one can't take February predictions too seriously.

QUICK TV PREDICTIONS

● THE WESTERN CRAZE will continue for a few more months and then subside. TV fans will switch their allegiance to jungle and darkest Africa thrillers like "Sheena of the Jungle."

● TONY PERKINS currently starring on Broadway in "Look Homeward Angel" will be seen on many TV shows both as a guest star and in dramatic roles.

● LOOK FOR MICKEY ROONEY to appear on several of the top TV shows in the near future. Mickey has regained his popularity and the one-time Andy Hardy is currently as popular as he ever was.

● GREAT OLD MOVIES will continue to be exhibited on all the networks. The showing of these movies is beneficial in two ways to the public. First these pictures are top notch entertainment. Second, the showing of these pictures compels Hollywood producers to produce only superior pictures because no one is going to leave his comfortable living room to see an inferior movie when he can see a better one on television.

● LOOK FOR MORE DRAMATIC SHOWS to replace the variety shows. Variety shows have reached a point where costs are almost impossible to meet, and the public is beginning to tire of the same faces, over and over again.

MALE STUDENTS DISPLAY LOOT FROM GIRL'S DORMITORY.

PANTY RAIDS

On a moonlight night in 1955, half a thousand University of Tennessee students were stricken with "panty raid fever"—a contagion that causes its victims to yowl like banshees and break into girls' dormitories and sorority houses to grab feminine underthings.

● CAMPUS CUTUPS

Within weeks, an epidemic of "panty larceny" swept the country. Thousands of co-eds screamed in pretended panic as dashing sophomores and juniors looted their boudoirs.

A fad had been re-born.

Actually, the first panty raid on record took place back in 1899, when 400 pajama-clad males from the University of Wisconsin paraded through Madison, broke into Ladies' Hall, and "absconded with 204 articles of clothing."

But the wardrobe of Joe College and Betty Co-Ed has had the most fad-filled history. Ever since Lord Byron's free-flowing ties set the style for a generation of college men, undergraduates have eagerly latched on to strange new styles.

The long hair sported by Oscar Wilde in the 90's was copied by every undergraduate with literary pretensions.

When Jean Harlow burst on the movie world in an explosion of glamor and sex appeal, co-eds all over the country turned platinum blonde as fast as peroxide could get in its work. Those who wanted to be "blonde all over" sported yellow rain slickers, rain or shine. Soon they added messages in crayon or lipstick, like "But sir, I'm only 18", "I belong to no man", "No, there are no more at home like me."

At the same time, the jalopies with slogans like "Peaches, here's you can," and "Four wheels, no brakes," "Don't laugh, your daughter may be inside," crowded the streets of the college towns.

Today, the fads are going strong. And the lettered sweater is giving way to lettered shoes. Called Kampus Kings, these Chukka styles put out by the Mason Shoe Mrg. Co., of Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, have brightly colored side panels, showing college letters (or personal initials) in any color combination desired.

And now a Kampus Queen style is covering the feet of thousands of college girls, using the same basic idea of displaying the college colors and letters in brilliant hues. More than 120 color and letter combinations are available.

One reason the fad has spread with such amazing speed is that the Mason company does not sell through ordinary stores, but through direct factory representatives, including hundreds of students who make all or part of their college expenses by selling Mason shows. Naturally, they are easily able to reach and sell their fellow-students.

What tomorrow will bring is anybody's guess. Bermuda shorts seem here to stay—for a while, anyway. Long knitted "sock" caps are gaining popularity in New England. The Southwest's cowboy boots and hats are making inroads through the Middle West. And the raccoon coat has come back again—with a bang.

● COLD REMEDY*BREATHE DEEPLY

Nine out of ten colds can be prevented, or can be cleared up in their early stages, by simple breathing exercises.

According to Dr. Emanuel M. Josephson in his book, "Breathe Deeply and Avoid Colds," recently published by Chedney Press, colds are the least understood of all ailments.

Though they are the most frequent cause of disability, they are the least successfully dealt with, in an era of scientific advance. The cold remedies that have been advocated, in both the past and present, are a myriad. However, there is still truth, so far as presently prevailing practice are concerned in the old cliché, "Whatever the treatment, a cold will run its course."

This is true despite the fact that on no disease has there been spent more study and research; no disease is more costly to mankind—in time, money, discomfort, misery, and death-dealing complications. No disease has been more resistant to the quest for prevention and remedy.

However, Doctor Josephson, who at one time was a sufferer of chronic colds feels that his method to alleviate the pains and irritations of a cold.

According to Dr. Josephson, a person, by first breathing through one side of the nose, while lying on the opposite side; and then through the other side of the nose, while lying in the reverse position, can clear the obstruction in his nose.

Dr. Josephson, who has spent many years at this work has had many patients who readily testify that his method (breathing deeply) has rid them of pains and irritations.

Among the series of exercises used by his patients, are the breathing exercises that are effective in preventing, or relieving nasal obstruction.

However, Dr. Josephson stresses the point that breathing exercises are not easy. It takes perseverance and ambition to keep up with them and many of his patients have dropped out because they were lazy, or fancied themselves too busy.

Also, Dr. Josephson notes that anyone who has not tried it, can realize what hard work persistent deep breathing can be for the beginner who has not yet developed the muscles involved in the process. He also notes that a person should not jump to the conclusion that hard labor, participation in athletic sports or other types of effort will necessarily develop the accessory muscles of respiration that are involved in the exercises in question. In most instances, they do not. Nor is the outdoors "fresh air" essential.

Just deep breathing, practiced with perseverance wherever, one may be, does the trick.
